More about Four Rivers Cultural Center & Museum

The amazing story of the Western Treasure Valley is told through the lenses of the different communities who call this home. Through ethnically diverse presentations of history, the museum inspires and involves our community in transcending formed opinions and experiencing rich cultural expression.

The museum and center tell the stories of the heritages that are shaping our region and nation, presenting authentic stories of history and celebrating the important contributions each group has made. The Center and its programming aim to tackle inequities in our community, empowering all people.

You'll love Four Rivers. Don't miss this outing. Join your friends from Boise UU Fellowship July 9.
